The Fourth edition of the International Training School on Core Correctional Skills is organised by the Confederation of European Probation (CEP) and the Centre for Legal Studies and Specialised Training.

The Centre for Legal Studies and Specialized Training is an autonomous administrative body attached to the Ministry of Justice of the Government of Catalonia. It was created in 1990 and its fundamental mission is to organise initial training and continuous education for the staff working at different units of the Ministry with the aim of ensuring and improving the quality of the services provided. With a view to contributing to this end, another pivotal activity of the centre is to conduct research in the fields of criminology, enforcement of sentences, administration of justice and the Catalonia's own body of laws. Moreover, the centre leads university practicum programmes, is home to a specialised public library, organises exchanges with teaching and research centres at national and international level, and regularly takes an active part in international exchange and innovation projects.

The Confederation of European Probation (CEP) is an umbrella organisation for Probation institutions in Europe. Founded in 1981, CEP brings together practitioners, managers, academics, stakeholders and others working in the field of probation and criminal justice from all over Europe. The goals of CEP are to enhance the profile of probation and to improve professionalism in this field, on a national and a European level. It promotes pan-European cooperation and exchange of ideas by organising conferences, by making reports available, by publishing its digital newsletter and through its website. In addition, CEP participates in academic projects which compile and study effective policy and practice in probation. It thus endorses the start of a 'science' of probation. To European bodies such as the European Union and the Council of Europe, CEP is the spokesperson for the sector of probation, providing expertise and comparative data. CEP is a member-based organisation with 90 members representing 39 EU countries and 42 EU jurisdictions.
